The finance, investor and accounting community lead the way in supporting adoption of climate-related financial disclosures

Leading Chief Financial Officers (CFOs), Chairs of pension funds and CEOs of global accounting bodies are sending a strong signal to their peers on the need to work towards the recommendations of the FSB Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). Signing a Statement of Support for these recommendations, organized by The Prince's Accounting for Sustainability Project (A4S), 38 CFOs, 13 CEOs of Accounting Bodies worldwide and 17 Chairs of Pension Funds have called for others to join them in a united effort to improve disclosure across sectors and regions, fundamental to enable informed decisions that respond effectively to climate change.

Support for the TCFD recommendations will be one of the key areas of focus during the One Planet Summit in Paris on 12th December, where international leaders of government and business will put forward tangible actions to address the ecological emergency facing our planet, our society and our economy. The statements of support for the TCFD recommendations signal practical actions that leading players in the financial community are willing to take in order to facilitate more informed business and investment decision making.

The TCFD recommendations provide a framework for disclosing climate related risks and opportunities, going beyond current practices, by including them in the mainstream financial filings and by using scenario analysis to inform business strategies. For the business community to adopt the recommendations successfully it needs the support of these three communities. CFOs have primary responsibility for overseeing financial disclosures, accounting bodies provide support and direction to their members, and the investment world requires better disclosure to allocate funds.

Said Jessica Fries, Executive Chair A4S, "Action by the finance community is vital if we are to tackle climate change. We need visible leadership, and the combined commitment to support adoption of the TCFD recommendations from CFOs, accounting bodies and pension funds represents the kind of collective effort required to accelerate the shift towards a sustainable economy. Providing the necessary information, in particular in areas such as scenario analysis, is an important step forward in enabling market forces to drive efficient allocation of capital and to support a smooth transition to a low carbon economy. This is just the beginning and we are calling on other CFOs, accounting bodies and investors to adopt the recommendations."

The CFO signatories are from organizations representing over USD1.6 trillion in combined total assets including Royal DSM, S&P Global, Manulife, Tesco, Tata Steel and Unilever.

Said Geraldine Matchett, Chief Financial Officer, Royal DSM and Co-Chair of A4S's CFO Leadership Network, "Climate change presents significant risk and opportunity. It is not an issue that can be tackled alone. CFOs must come together and play a leadership role in response."

Graeme Pitkethly, Chief Financial Officer, Unilever and Vice Chair of the TCFD Secretariat said, "Its fundamental for every good business to manage and communicate risks and opportunities. We are already obliged to disclose material risk. Climate change is no different."

13 Accounting Body CEOs have come together in support of this, representing 2.39 million accountants worldwide in 181 countries.

Said Joy Thomas, President and CEO, Chartered Professional Accountants of Canada (CPA Canada), "The TCFD recommendations provide a strong foundation from which to strive for more relevant and globally consistent corporate reporting on climate change issues."

Also joining were 17 Chairs of Pension Funds, representing USD234.7 billion assets under management.

Emma Howard Boyd, Chair, Environment Agency and Chair, Investment Committee, Environment Agency Pension Fund, commented, "Climate change is one of the biggest global threats we face and the finance sector needs to be more than equal to the challenge. The industry needs to step up to challenges posed - we need more action and we need it now."

The Prince of Wales's Accounting for Sustainability Project (A4S)

A4S was established by HRH The Prince of Wales in 2004 to mobilize action and leadership by the finance and accounting community to address the challenges to the economy and society posed by issues such as climate change, increasing depletion of and demand for natural resources, urbanization and inequality. A4S seeks to inspire action by finance leaders to support a fundamental shift towards resilient business models and a sustainable economy.

A4S works with the finance and accounting community to:

- Inspire finance leaders to adopt sustainable and resilient business models
- Transform financial decision making to enable an integrated approach, reflective of the opportunities and risks posed by environmental and social issues
- Scale up action across the global finance and accounting community

A4S has two global networks: the A4S Chief Financial Officers Leadership Network, a group of CFOs from leading companies seeking to transform finance and accounting; and, the Accounting Bodies Network whose members comprise approximately two thirds of the world's accountants.
